Despite the return to pre-pandemic grade boundaries, King Edward VI School has seen achievement at GCSE rise to new heights. A record 84.2% of papers received the top 9 to 7 grades, with thirty students achieving five grade 9s or better. Amongst them were Swanand Kashyap, Advait Paigude, Rohan Rajathurai and Jonathan Smith who obtained ten grade 9s and Aarav Desai, Matt Gowland, Charlie Hutton and Daniel Newington who received nine. These achievements come a week after record-breaking A Level results were also recorded at the School, which were the best in Warwickshire and placed K.E.S. amongst the nation's top 10 co-educational state Sixth Forms.

Bennet Carr, Headmaster, said “It is particularly pleasing to see our students achieve record-breaking GCSE results despite the more challenging circumstances this year. Whilst Ofqual’s decision to return grades to pre-pandemic levels is understandably controversial, I support the underlying principle, as it is vital that public confidence in the grades achieved in national qualifications is preserved. Given this context, our students deserve huge credit for the resilience they have each shown in achieving these superb outcomes. They are, of course, tribute not only to the students’ hard work but also the wonderful support they have received from their teachers and families”.
